Industry Outlook

As we look forward in our industry the economy is still rocking and rolling with no real clear indicator as to when or how it will stabilize. We are hearing that steel will move up this first quarter so now may be the time to review where you have your parts sourced.

Quality Corner

Since May 2002, Distefano has maintained certification with ISO 9001. We're proud of our success in following the rigorous standards established in our ISO procedures; but more importantly, we believe in constantly listening to the feedback of our customers. Constantly challenging ourselves to exceed expectations and striving for continuous improvement is what has kept Distefano on the leading edge.
